

Townsend Bombing Range

Environmental Analysis

Environmental Compliance

The Environmental Impact Statement (EIS) Process will involve permitting and consultation, such as:

- National Historic Preservation Act (Section 106)
- Government-to-government consultation with federally recognized Native American Indian tribes
- Endangered Species Act (Section 7)
- Federal and State of Georgia Clean Water Acts
- State of Georgia Coastal Consistency Determination

Examining Potential Impacts

The EIS will evaluate potential effects on the environment and the local community that are associated with the Proposed Action.

- Safety
- Socioeconomics
- Recreation
- Natural Resources
- Forestry Resources
- Noise
- Air Quality
- Water Resources
- Cultural Resources
- Land Use
- Environmental Justice
- Airspace/Air Traffic

Natural Resources

Approximately 38% of the potential expansion area is classified as wetlands.

Rare, threatened, and endangered species are known to occur on Townsend Bombing Range and in the proposed expansion area.

Recreational use of land will possibly be affected.

- Hunting
- Fishing
- Camping

Land Use

Some land may be converted from forest area to target area.

Socioeconomics

The EIS will study and evaluate potential changes in tax and timber revenue.
